

WEDNESDAY PM 1/11/17 WEATHER UPDATE

Posted on January 11, 2017 by Tyler Barker

Good Wednesday evening, temperatures are warmer in the upper 40's and low 50's for now. We have scattered showers moving through the area and will diminish after 8pm. Expect foggy conditions to develop and lows in the upper 40's. For Thursday, expect temperatures to really warm up with highs in the upper 50's and low 60's. There will be a 20% chance of a scattered shower but most of us will see partly sunny skies. Rain will move back in on Friday ahead of a cold front, which will bring cooler temperatures. The weekend looks wet with scattered showers in the forecast both Saturday and Sunday. #wvwx Chief Meteorologist Tyler Barker